

Firefox

The Story According to Its Creator Blake Ross

Blake Ross (born June 12, 1985) is a software developer who is known for working on the Mozilla browsers. In particular he started the Mozilla Firefox project with Dave Hyatt, as well as the Spread Firefox project while working as a contractor at the Mozilla Foundation. In 2005, he was nominated for Wired magazine's top Rave Award, Renegade of the Year, opposite Larry Page, Sergey Brin and Jon Stewart.

Ross was hired to work as an intern at Netscape Communications Corporation at the age of 15 while attending Gulliver Preparatory School in Miami, Florida. He graduated in 2003 and is currently attending Stanford University as a member of its graduating class of 2007.

He is currently writing a book,
Firefox for Dummies

This talk was part of the ACM Reflections Projections 2005 Student Computing Conference.

This year's conference will be held

October 20-22, 2006

<http://www.acm.uiuc.edu/conference>

Watch the video online!

<http://www.acm.uiuc.edu/conference/2005/webcast.php>